

Stand with the Families of Police Murder Victims “No More Stolen Lives” Tour

Thursday
March 10th
1 PM

Rosa Parks
Room

Cesar Chavez S.U.

Over 1200 men and women were killed by police across the country in 2015! Black, Latino, and Native American were especially targeted. Execution style murders; torture and death by taser; people killed walking away from police; or homeless ... in their cars during traffic stops... handcuffed... standing on the street doing nothing wrong... in wheelchairs... having mental episodes and in need of help... children as young as six years old: all MURDERED by police... And, time after time, cops are exonerated, rarely charged, and when they are charged, their murderers are protected by the prosecutors and the entire system – giving a green light for more murderous assaults by police.

The “No More Stolen Lives Tour “ is giving voice to the families of loved ones killed by police, their pain and their determination to end this epidemic. We will also include other “Stolen Lives” as well – voices impacted by Mass Incarceration - the formerly incarcerated and families of people in prisons and immigrant detention centers. We will be joined by revolutionaries, activists and people of conscience who are determined to build a movement of millions in powerful nationwide mass resistance to a system which murders thousands and locks up millions. And they are calling on you to join them in this resistance!
