

Dear friends,

Where were you this weekend in 1999? Nineteen years ago, on N30, the Independent Media Center (IMC) aka indymedia came to life as hundreds of volunteer reporters collectively documented the WTO protests in Seattle amid clouds of tear gas. Next year marks the 20th anniversary of what grew into a global decentralized citizen journalist movement. We plan to mark the occasion with an art & film festival, and you're invited!

SAVE THE DATE

((i))ndymedia 20th Anniversary Encuentro

Reflections ~ Art Show ~ Film Festival ~ Media Preservation Station

November 29-December 1, 2019

Rice University Media Center - Houston, Texas

Call for involvement: can you contribute media to the exhibition? If so, get in touch at indyat20@gmail.com by 3/1/19 for consideration. Please help by spreading the word to others you know who were involved with indymedia. We'll send more details in the following months. In the meantime, mark your calendar!

In solidarity,

Tish Stringer & Renée Feltz aka chickpea former members of the Houston Independent Media Center collective